

Holbrook & Manter Expands Footprint to Northeast Ohio

Holbrook & Manter (H&M), a professional services firm, has acquired Linc, Malachin & Dennis (LMD). This extends H&M's presence beyond the Central Ohio market for the first time.

LMD operates under third-generation leadership and has been serving the Akron and Canton, Ohio areas for 83 years as a full-service accounting firm. Longevity in the marketplace is a tie that binds LMD and H&M. Now in its 104th year as a continuous firm, H&M is known across the Central Ohio region for providing excellent client service.

H&M Principal, Brian Ravenscraft shares, "We are delighted to have the Linc, Malachin & Dennis team as part of the Holbrook & Manter family. We are also excited to add such talented folks to the team and expand our footprint into other areas of Ohio. Both firms have longevity in Ohio, and we look forward to continuing the excellent service that has been provided over the decades. "

H&M Principal, Mark Welp adds, "We are excited to have the Linc, Malachin & Dennis employees join the Holbrook & Manter ESOP as employee-owners. I have known some of their employees for a number of years and really appreciate their attention to quality work and the service that they provide to their clients. Our two firms have had a great relationship for many years, and our combined forces will help us drive new levels of success for our clients."

Linc Malachin & Dennis, Inc.'s current group of shareholder's adds, "We are pleased to announce our merger with the H&M Team as we have worked closely with them over the years. We are confident H&M adheres to the same professional and client services standards that allowed LMD to be in existence for 83 years. The changing environment of local CPA firms made the transition decision a natural fit to ensure the firms commitments to its clients to provide current and relevant services with resources that meet the client's needs."
